General Information

1. NII 88 in Mytishchi (Podlipki) (55-54N, 37-44E) is located about a 20 minutes' ride by suburban train from Moscow. 25X1

The area was enclosed with a board fence which was about three meters high. There was some barbed wire along the top of this fence, except in some places where it was in poor repair. Along the side facing the road to Moscow the fence was only about two meters high, but it had an apron of barbed wire in front of it. This apron only consisted of about two strands of wire.

2. Site layout: See Attachment on which the following points are located.

Point 1 Blacksmith shop, single story, about 100 x 25 meters. This shop contained a number of steam operated hammers.

Point 2 Building, purpose unknown, about 50 x 30 meters.

Point 3 Institute building. The center wing was about 40 m, the longer wing about 40 m, and the shorter one about 20 m. This was a three-story building. On the lower floor, there was a large construction hall on the right-hand side as you entered, with the office of the technical director on the left. The Accounting Department was also downstairs. On the second floor at the right there were the offices of General Honov. The remainder of the building consisted mainly of small offices and a few small electrical laboratories. The entrance was always guarded by a woman guard who was armed with a pistol. [redacted]

Point 6 Fence.

Point 7 A large shop about 50 x 70 m and 20 m high. This shop could be entered by the Germans only under very exceptional circumstances. In 1947 this shop was fitted for the testing of V-2 engines. Also some work was done here to build new fuel containers for the V-2. A special pass was needed to gain access to this shop.

Point 8 A long narrow two-story building about 70 x 5 m. In 1947 this building was used to house prisoners of war.

Point 9 Storage building about 40 x 30 m which was used for storing most of the furniture of the German specialists.

Point 10 A wood storage shed about 20 x 35 m.

Point 11 A mechanical shop which I believe was used for the storage and maintenance of trucks.

Point 12 An area of about 600 x 400 m which was filled with an unsorted collection of machines and machine tools.

Point 13 An area containing a number of shops. [redacted] under the impression that, for the most part, simple machinery was being produced here.
